THEY WILL DO IT
Our wives—those who are fortunate enough to possess partners in sorrow and joys—will slip one over occasionally, despite how clever we of the male sex may be.

The other morning in this column was a story which provoked quite a little comment concerning a husband-wife accident, and this morning I am going to relate another tale which has the other one backed off the boards for feminine ingenuity.

It seems there are two married couples—sound in the beginning like that old wheeze about the two Irishmen, but it is not—who foregather frequently to enjoy a game of whist, penny ante or some kind of pasteboard diversion. One couple lives in Richmond and the other in Berkeley.

IDEA
The two ladies a couple of weeks ago decided they would shopping go. The new Winter models were so enticingly displayed that their desire for possession could hardly be restrained. However caution put on the brakes, as it was agreed that the husband of neither one would approve the expenditure.

Finally a happy idea hit one of Eve's descendants and she made the following proposal: "You know Ruth, you have been very nice in taking care of my children." (Continued on page Eight)

Jury Unable To Fix Blame In Car Crash

A coroner's jury, conducting an investigation here last night, was unable to fix responsibility for an automobile-Pacific Greyhound state accident, and subsequent fire, that cost the life of E. P. Hiborn, 65, of Oroville.

The accident happened near Placerville on Friday night. Hiborn was burned to death when the gasoline tank of his machine burst open and sprayed the engine of his machine, causing a blaze that almost completely destroyed the auto.

After deliberating some time the jury returned a verdict of death due to third degree burns and injuries received in a collision between a car the deceased was driving and a Greyhound stage.

DRIVER IS MUM

E. L. Crawford of Oakland, driver of the Oakland bound stage, refused to testify at the inquest on advice of his attorney.

CCC Boys Are Seeking Hunter Lost In Wilds

FRENSO, Oct. 19.—UP—A group of 50 CCC workers, brought to more than 100 today the party searching for Pilmon McDonald, 18, Olddale deer hunter, who has been missing in the Greenhorn mountain region north of Bakersfield since Monday.

Forest Ranger Robert Beard expressed relief that McDonald is dead, due to long exposure in sub-zero weather. McDonald, although described by friends as strong and active as a much younger man, was without food and blankets when he disappeared.

Clipper Ship Lands At Honolulu Airbase

HONOLULU, Oct. 19.—UP—Pan American Airways' huge silver-hulled Clipper ship, exploring new commercial airlines over the Pacific, landed here at 6:54 p. m. tonight after a 1380-mile flight from Midway Island.

The big ship will hop, probably tomorrow for Alameda on the last 240-mile leg of its present 12,900-mile round trip exploration flight to Guam.

Italy's Defeat

AN ARTIST'S conception of the Battle of Adwa, painted in 1896, the year the Italian forces were massacred by the warriors of King Menelik of Ethiopia. Recent occupation of the city by the Italian troops was accepted throughout Italy as suitable revenge. Mounted Ethiopians are shown in the painting clashing with foot troops.

Labor Chiefs Defeat Third Party Moves

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 19.—UP—The American Federation of Labor late today defeated a proposal to form a separate political party from the ranks of organized labor.

FIST FIGHT
ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 19.—UP—A brief—but savage fist fight between the president of two of the most powerful unions in the American Federation of Labor furnished a violent climax today to stormy verbal disputes which have marked the federation's convention here.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and William L. Hutchison, president of the Carpeters' Union, engaged in a knock-down fight which threw the convention into wild disorder.

Both are big husky men in their middle fifties. Hutchison is a few inches taller than Lewis but the latter was faster on the punch and sent the carpenter's leader crashing to the floor with his second blow.

The fight grew out of the controversy between industrial and craft unions which, although decided several times in favor of the crafts, is still the most important and inflammable of the federation's internal issues.

Sinking Ship Is Abandoned By Crew Of 37

GLASGOW, Oct. 19.—UP—Officials of the Donaldson Line here today announced that the S. S. Varudia's crew of 37 abandoned ship about 700 miles off the northwest coast.

Line officials here believed the crew was forced to take to the lifeboats because of shifting of the cargo in heavy weather.

The Vardulia, with a cargo of 7,800 tons of coal, sailed from Hartlepool for Botwood, Newfoundland.

The line Manchester Producer wirelessed that it was going to the assistance of the Vardulia's crew. Other boats which indicated they were proceeding to their aid were the German S. S. Pennland, the Dutch S. S. Vendam and the cable ship Lord Kelvin.

NEW SHOCKS ADD TO BIG DAMAGE TOLL

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19.—UP—National Guardsmen attempted to quiet growing hysteria here tonight as earthquake shocks rumbled with monotonous regularity.

Two shudders, coming shortly before 5 p. m., toppled several more chimneys. Fire had broken out in several places. Guardsmen were battling to control the flames.

CHIMNEYS CONDEMNED

The Helena business district was deserted as residents hurried away to places of safety.

All chimneys in the city were condemned by City Engineer Oscar Barron, and he is checking all buildings believed to be dangerous. It is thought likely that those deemed unsafe will be dynamited.

STREETS GUARDED

Highway patrolmen were guarding the streets, especially near the Helena cathedral, where it was reported the towering spires were in danger of falling.

TWO ARE KILLED

In East Helena it was reported that the succeeding shocks had weakened the remainder of the steel stock of the American Smelting and Refining company's smelter that would have to be blasted.

Damage, increasing with each succeeding shock, was being estimated at between three and four million dollars.

The death toll remained at two.

WORCESTER, England, Oct. 19.—UP—Even the United States, despite its policy of isolation, is in danger of being drawn in, if a general war breaks out in Europe, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin declared today at a crowded rally of Conservatives in Guildford here.

Comparing war as it was known between 1914 and the war of the future, the Prime Minister said:

ONE SECURE

"Not one country today, if war broke out, could regard itself as secure until the war ended. Even the United States, which talks of isolation, is up against that peril."

"Furthermore, there is a great increase in the horrors of war. For that reason, it is perfectly obvious that the only safe way for any nation to keep out of war is to see that it never comes. The path we should take is to see that it never comes."

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 19.—UP—The Postal Telegraph office, located in a hotel building, was closed for fear the building might collapse at any time.

U.S. May Be Drawn Into Europe War

GENEVA, Oct. 19.—UP—The League of Nations voted an iron-clad commercial embargo on Italy, tonight, designed to strangle that country's trade and force it to abandon the war against Ethiopia.

It was the greatest collective action of nations against a war-

farmer in history, furnishing the first decisive test of whether war can be stopped by united pressure.

The embargo was adopted by

Troy Warhorse Taken For Ride By State Team

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—UP.—Oregon State College tossed the unfated Southern California Trojans further down the football stairs today by handing U. S. C. a 13-7 defeat—the first Oregon State victory over Troy since 1921.

Oregon State had managed to tie U. S. C. the last two years, but this afternoon the Angies were determined to win, and sparked by two sensational backfield men, Joseph Gray of Portland and Bob Mountain of Laramie, Calif., they went out and spilled the Trojans.

The Staters scored two first half touchdowns and were able by a desperate battle to hold the Trojans to one goal line crossing in the fourth quarter.

Both Oregon State scores were contributed to by Mountain, who can run pass and kick with the best performers the historic Coliseum has seen.

OREGON WINS

The Staters scored early in the game and it was not until the fourth quarter that the Trojans unleashed a power attack and scored seven points. Immediately after they launched a power drive that carried them within striking distance of the Oregon goal, but the northerners held.

The strong Washington University team defeated its brother college, Washington State, by a score of 21 to 6 at Pullman.

CARDINALS ARE IDLE

According to northern football experts, the championship of the Coast conference was to be decided by this contest as both the Cougars and the Huskies were rated as the strongest teams in the Northwest and the teams to be beaten to win the conference title.

Stanford and St. Mary's were idle during the day, with the Cardinals resting up for their game next Saturday with the Washington Huskies. St. Mary's will meet University of San Francisco a week from today at Kezar stadium.

EASTERN GAMES

The Stanford Frosh squad was defeated 19 to 7 by the Southern California Frosh at Los Angeles.

In important Eastern games, Notre Dame defeated Pittsburgh 9 to 6 in a thrilling game; Army defeated Harvard 13-0 for the first time since 1895; Minnesota defeated Tulane, 29-0; Indiana was defeated by University of Cincinnati 7-0; Georgia Tech won from Duke 6-0; Michigan defeated Wisconsin 10-12; Alabama defeated West Virginia 23-0; Yale defeated Navy 7-6; Princeton defeated Rutgers 29 to 6 and Fordham defeated Vanderbilt 13 to 7.

There were 16 matches in all but it was these that drew the gaudy.

First the Russian match, because the White Plains, N. Y., pro is the title and a manner that is pleasing to the crowds.

Later came Sarazen, who had announced this tournament was meant on the table for him and that he intended to stow it away.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Oct. 19

—UP— Fighting for the break and executing one perfect forward pass that earned a touchdown, the Golden Bears of California snared their greatest plum of the 1935 season today—a 6 to 0 victory over Santa Clara.

The triumph was California's first in four years against the dashing Broncos and marked the first time they have scored against Clipper Smith's men in the same period. It also was the fifth straight win for the Bears this season, during which their goal line has not been crossed.

The game was played under constant pressure, both teams kicking out of threatening holes time and again. Santa Clara flashed momentarily in the first quarter and again in the third but never drove with the same determined force of the Bears.

For 25 minutes the Broncos rushed and forced the Bears, driving them deep into their territory with high pants. The Bears replied with unexpectedly splendid kicking to pull slowly out of the ruck.

With three minutes to go in the second quarter, Big Joe Kelly, Santa Clara's punter, dropped back to kick. The ball soared skyward and to the right. It dropped, bounced, and rolled backward to the Bronco's 38-yard line. Santa Clara drew an offside penalty.

On the next play Floyd Blower, dependable California left half, took a quick reverse from quarterback, Henry Spark. Sparks took the ball on the run and half fell, and half dived over to score. He missed the try for point.

Jury Unable To Fix Blame In Car Crash

(Continued from Page 1) mitted by witnesses showed that the crash occurred in the stage driver's lane and that both stage and automobile were being driven at speeds estimated between 30 and 35 miles.

Ray Doherty of Oakland, driver of a truck which the stage had passed immediately before the accident, told the jury that Hilborn's car was not in sight when the stage pulled out to pass him.

M. Moring of Pinole, whose car Hilborn was passing at the time of the fatal crash, testified that the stage was not in sight around the bend while Hilborn drove out to the center lane to pass Moring.

Testimony introduced by witnesses showed that Crawford saw the coming Hilborn car and made a sharp swerve to drive into his traffic lane and by so doing forced Doherty's truck off the highway. Witnesses declared that at almost the same time Hilborn swerved and ran across the highway to collide with the truck.

Little Damage Reported When Two Ships Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—UP—

The Swedish freighter Margaret Johnson and the Associated Oil company tanker Tulsazas, collided a few miles off Golden Gate today.

Damage was slight.

The Coast Guard cutters Shoal and Daphne went to the scene of the collision but were notified by both masters that aid would not be required.

The Margaret Johnson, which sailed from San Francisco for San Pedro last night, radioed she was proceeding to her destination. Only damage was a broken boat davit.

The Tulsazas, en route from Tacoma to San Francisco, advised it would dock at Yerba Buena Island, San Francisco, for inspection. The tanker reported a damaged bow.

"Boy, soon as I'm better I'm gonna get another horse to kick me!"

United Press (U.P.)
Planned Its War Coverage in May

United Ready

All sources of United Press information—from the offices on the long corridors of the Quai d'Orsay in Paris—from 10 Downing Street, London, where Britain's imperial policies are made—from Palazzo Venezia in Rome, where Mussolini bent over his war maps and envisioned a new Italian Mediterranean empire—from Berlin—from Moscow—from Geneva—the confirmatory whispers came from diplomats—from statesmen—war in Ethiopia seemed inevitable.

The first line of U. P. news defense was planned.

Edward Beattie was sent from Berlin to Ethiopia—first American Press Association correspondent to reach the Ethiopian capital—H. R. Ekins, in New York, was assigned to reinforce him—Street and Packard were put on the job at Djibouti—Ed L. Keen, United Press Vice President in Europe, went to Rome—Webb Miller, chief of United Press European news organization, flew to Cairo, down the Nile to Khartoum, to Port Sudan, to Asmara, the war front of the Italian troops—everywhere contacting United Press correspondents—assigning men to new positions, everywhere searching out short cuts to spot news contacts—expanding, reinforcing United Press first line of news defense.

More men were moved into European hot spots—to Geneva, where statesmen talk and may sometimes act—to London—to Paris—where 3,000 miles from Ethiopia a new and even more terrible war front may be created—to Berlin, where Hitler plans his strategy. New channels of communication were opened—new methods devised to reduce delays—to increase speed—to shrink the time—to get the NEWS TO YOU-FIRST.

These preparations enable United Press to be FIRST with—

- ① Mussolini's dramatic test mobilization of Fascists.
- ② The Italian advance into Ethiopia.
- ③ Emperor Haile Selassie's call to arms.
- ④ The air raid on Adua.
- ⑤ The capture of Adigrat.
- ⑥ Ethiopia's demand that League use force against Italy.

Many Cases of Blindness From Use of Dinitrophenol Are Reported

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

WITHIN the last six months many cases of loss of sight from cataract following the use of Dinitrophenol have been reported. Undoubtedly there are many more cases in which the cause is not recognized. These reported cases have occurred mostly in patients who had taken the drug on the advice and under the control of their physician, and they and the physicians tell all that it was well.

In some cases the cause was only discovered after much search and trouble. An eye specialist could not find any other cause. The patient had purchased a fat reducer and had no idea of what it contained.

It was felt no bad effects had been noticed and thought she was safe. She was not suddenly lost in eyesight, come on suddenly. Cases did not mention to tell. Cases did not help. Studies come on very rapidly.

Most of these cases were in young folks under thirty-five. In the report of one case the mother took the drug while carrying her baby. When her baby was born it was born with congenital cataract and the mother soon developed it.

Patients suffering from Dinitrophenol poisoning present a great variety of symptoms. A general skin rash, with chills, itching, high fever, headache, fits, delirium and great weakness. Profuse sweats are common and the kidney function often fails.

Some cases have developed paralysis of the legs and arms. No treatment yet discovered seems to have any beneficial effect. During the height of the fever and itching even though frequently does not relieve and the general misery is not relieved.

A physician calls to see a case of poisoning by the drug and having no idea of the cause, is misled and may blame it on many things.

In some ways its action is similar to Infantile Paralysis and undoubtedly is often mistaken for acute. British's disease, only one physician finds it hard to explain the eruption and intense itching.

Undoubtedly there are many cases of Dinitrophenol poisoning that are not recognized as such. One case that was reported from a large hospital was not recognized until an autopsy of the kidney destruction revealed it. By careful inquiry of the family and doctor it was found that the patient had taken Dinitrophenol on the advice of a nurse who worked in a physician's office, but had undoubtedly taken it according to directions.

Cases Not Recognized

With all these bad cases occurring and those taking the so-called proper dosage it is reasonable to suppose that many other cases are never recognized in those who have taken some medicine containing the drug.

With all these reports of very serious results it seems that its use to reduce weight is fraught with great danger. And until we have greater knowledge of what causes the bad effects and how to prevent them its use should be discontinued.

There is no known way to tell the action. No doubt many kidneys are seriously damaged without the knowledge of the patient or his physician. It is an unsafe drug to use.

Diets, exercise, exercise under the guidance of a physician is the only safe way to lose weight.

The taking of Thyroid extract to reduce weight is also unsafe. It may stimulate a simple goiter and cause it to become toxic with all the bad effects on the heart and nervous system that a toxic goiter produces.

Catastrophic kidney disease and toxic goiter are much more serious conditions than obesity.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Is it correct to tip the boy who takes your bags from a hotel lobby out to a cab?"—J.W.

ANSWER: A tip for such service is customary. The very least that you could tip him would be ten cents.

QUESTION: "When eating food from a jelloed sherbet glass, is it correct to lay the spoon on the plate?"—D.F.

ANSWER: The spoon, when not in use, should be placed on the side of the plate beside the sherbet glass and not in it.

QUESTION: "Are hors d'oeuvres and other canapes eaten with the fingers?"—N.G.

ANSWER: Yes; and so are stuffed or plain celery, and olives. Small pickled onions and other relishes are generally speared by toothpicks for serving. When they are not, you just use your fingers.

Guide to Charm

Bath Oils Are Perfect When Using Shower

By LUCILLE HUNT

ALL WHO USEN<sup>E</sup> enjoy the convenience and quickness of the shower bath occasionally, but some of you really choose it in preference to the tub at any time. Even the shower advocate needn't be without bath luxuries, however. There are delightful bath essences and salts that can be used to anoint your body before you step into the warm, gentle spray.

These bath oils leave the skin delightfully soft and smooth as well as fragrant. Or if you like your shower water perfumed directly hang one of the little chromium perfume balls filled with pine essence or your favorite fragrance below the shower drap. The pine scent is especially delightful for this purpose. It gives you the feeling of standing in a sun-drenched forest.

For an invigorating shower at any time take a handful of table salt and massage it over your wet body. Step under the spray of water to wash away all of the salt. For additional stimulation, turn the spray on very strong, alternating from hot to icy cold several times.

Step out and dry your skin, then apply a soothng skin lotion or favorite cream. Then, using a fluffy powder with a big woolly puff, and you will feel as pampered and refreshed as though you had spent twice as long in your bath.

We wonder the Boy Scouts do not have a rule of this exciting biennial. Lord Baden-Powell has red Indian blood in his veins being locally descended from Ponahonan and John Wolfe, the Englishman who took his Princess back to Britain with him when he left the Virginia colony. This is supposed to account for his natural love for scouting, a love which has stood him in good stead during his seventy-eight years of activity.

And now for a less glamorous, but equally important, matter. Many women feel that after cold weather sets in they put their deodorant and anti-perspiration more frequently and forget about them. It is true that you do not perspire as much during the cold weather, but there is always some moisture and it is a much more serious matter now.

Sheer summer clothes allowed much of the perspiration to evaporate in the open air. But now that you are again wearing woolens, silk, rayon and sweaters that are cut to clip, the faster the perspiration is absorbed by the material where it remains, becoming stale and unpleasant.

The best way to protect yourself is by using a good non-perfume. This will prevent moisture in the armpits where there is little possibility for the circulation to move and where clothes fit most closely. Always use such a preparation according to the directions that accompany the package, and there is little danger of irritation.

It wasn't until 1916 that Lord Robert was able to devote all his attention to the Boy Scout movement. He resigned from the army and went north to Canada. It was found that the parent had taken Dinitrophenol on the advice of a nurse who worked in a physician's office, but had undoubtedly taken it according to directions.

His original Boy Scout movement now has 2,000,000 members.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Is there anything that one can do to make a face younger in appearance? I am only 28, yet I look older than many women of 35. My complexion is sallow and there are tiny lines—even my body seems old and stiff; and I am very nervous and self-conscious. Please help me.—Miss Stevenson."

Such a physical illness is to blame for your sallow and mental state. I would advise you to have a thorough going over by your family doctor to locate the trouble. It may be some very minor thing that is causing your difficulty. It may be that you need only a complete rest and a change of scene for a week. Even a restful facial at a good beauty salon and new make-up might brighten up your face. And there is nothing to prevent you getting an extra two hours of sleep each night and taking lazy, relaxing exercises to improve your poise. Once or twice a week, try to do something you thoroughly enjoy whether it is reading a mystery novel, attending a musical or doing a bit of needlework. Youthfulness is partly your attitude toward life, you know.

QUESTION: "What cosmetics do I need for a very oily, large-pored skin?"—Mrs. G.N.

You need a good cake of soap and a complexion brush for cleaning and a good astringent for those you excessively oily skin and reducing pores. You will find a foundation lotion or tonic of violet, hazel and rose water a good one for your make-up.

Get a powder that is compounded especially for an oily skin. Better check up on your diet and living habits before you spend too much on corrective cosmetics, though!

Bustles Are Resurrected For Evening

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Back fulness continues to be liked for formal fashions, in spite of all the talk about fulness in front, with gods of padding, gathered sections, gores and under-girding. Bustles still continue to interest shown in movement at the back.

You have noticed that the bustle influence is manifested in certain evening dresses, usually expressed in loops that are either crisp or collapsed, done in the fabric of the dress or in a contrasting fabric?

The use of padding and stitching is another trend which achieved such popularity and success in tailored taffeta dance frocks is now applied for capes to the young tafta frock.

If you do not care for this method, then use rubberized dress shields and wash them at least after every other wearing. And do make it a practice to use a powder deodorant. This can be studded under the arms and over other areas that perspire freely when you apply your favorite brand with powder or dusting powder.

Button-back treatments dipping low the waistline are widely employed in dance frocks, copied from a popular Paris model, which was laied as a sailor's trousers lace at back. However, the versions shown usually employ a belt and overcoat which start above the belt and continue for several inches below, or in some instances, large metal books and even add a decorative back touch.

The shops are showing velvet dresses with sleeves in the purples and wine reds. American Beauty is a recurring shade in dance frocks. Black velvets and bright gold hammed satins and crepes recently return to popularity.

Bustle capes stiffened in odds and ends in moire frocks. One such model has a circular cape and the frock cut with rather narrow hem-line also bulky with rows of cord.

Flowers continue to be given prominence as neckline adornment or arranged in the section of the bodice, while shoulder straps of large flowers are popular.

The washable velvet lingerie is the answer for a practical laundry garment that is not quite as "bread and buttery" as the flannel robe. These washable velvets come in the most luscious colors.

Detachable jewel belts and cord or metallic sashes dress up in toto the entire gown. And there is nothing to prevent you getting an extra two hours of sleep each night and taking lazy, relaxing exercises to improve your poise. Once or twice a week, try to do something you thoroughly enjoy whether it is reading a mystery novel, attending a musical or doing a bit of needlework. ### Short Cuts

It is easy for a child to remember to pick up his toys when he is through playing with them if he is in a natural place to keep them.

For this purpose a toy chest is ideal. It should be a sturdy wood frame toy chest with a cloth padded cover. It is easier to keep clean and strong enough to stand.

Vegetables will not cook to the bottom of the saucepan while cooling, if the top baker remembers to give it a shake or two from one end to the other.

An all wood trunk men's shoe cabinet may be made by having four doors, each ten inches deep, covering a space of six inches wide and six inches high.

Dishes for Today

Unexpected Guest Need Not Upset the Household

By JUDITH WILSON

OCCASIONALLY we find them—growing young couples who have their friends drop in as often as they can. Seldom do they give a small party or even plan an informal dinner—but there are friends of guests—and whenever has an opportunity to share their hospital if they'reoughly enjoys him and comes again.

Such impromptu hospitality is a knack—at one that any friendly young homemaker can acquire. Simply consider company of the informal kind when you plan your weekly shopping list—and each week add something "extra" for your company shelf.

Cans of unusual soup, spiced fruit, chutney, a jar or package of special cheese, flaky little canapés, cans of chicken, tomato, crabmeat or shrimp—all of these can be converted into something delicious and substantial for your impromptu dinners.

Of course, a liberal dash of imagination is also needed. Sometimes you have to stretch a dinner that was planned for two or three to serve twice that number. Sometimes you can do this by cleverly adding an interesting second course, or hors d'oeuvres to dull the first course and conceal the fact that your main course is somewhat skimpy.

Sometimes the main course can be altered or extended. For instance, one clever homemaker I know was faced with the problem of providing a dinner for four from two pork chops, a handful of mushrooms and some left-over gravy. Fortunately, her fruit bowl was not quite bare and a crisp loaf of lettuce and tomatoes were waiting in her refrigerator.

After placidly surveying the items for a minute she put the chops, mushrooms, a crisp apple, a stalk of celery and a small onion through the food chopper. This was skilfully seasoned with salt, pepper and a dash of thyme, then moistened with thin milk and enclosed in rounds of pastry. When baked, the little individual pies were so flaky and rich and flavorful that the guests begged for the recipe.

The meal began with a simple green salad dressed with tart French dressing. Buttered vegetables followed, a crusty little biscuit, lettuce, crisp lettuce with butter, jelly and lots of strong coffee completed the simple and attractive meal "from nothing at all."

It is even more fun to start at scratch and prepare a substantial meal for several guests. Of course, if you live in town and can send for a delivery for a juicy steak or chops and serve with sauteed mushrooms or garnish, your problem is simple. Then you need only think of a good appetizer.

But if you live miles from a market you will have to depend on your "company shelf" from beginning to end. You can always start with a substantial soup, an omelet, an accompaniment, and a plate of roasts. Then the main course might be light.

If you have the remnants of a roast in your refrigerator and a

MODERN WOMEN

New Survey Attempts to Find Out What Is Wrong With Marriage

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

SOMEBODY seems likely to discover at last what's wrong with marriage. It could hardly be otherwise with all the research work afoot. Everyone agrees there seems to be something wrong with matrimony. Some think it's this, some think it's that.

Most everyone agrees that the seat of the trouble lies, not in the emotions, but in the externals.

Whether married couples today are as happy as married couples in the past is a moot question.

Moderns do not take so much for granted, nor are they given to the practice of wearing hair shirts.

They are more exacting in some ways, less in others.

They think more about whether they are happy, which is usually a sign they are.

But on the whole, couples who think intelligently about their particular problem are likely to solve it.

I doubt very much if the increase in the divorce rate proves anything. In the old days many a couple stayed married just because there wasn't much else they could do about it. Divorces were almost unknown. One had to be driven by a tremendous urge to break the marriage tie. It just hasn't been done, that's all. One had to pay too great a price—or so they thought—for freedom.

It required considerable courage to take such troubles to a judge, even in our mothers' day, and much more so in grandmothers'. Probably many of us would never have been as easy as it is today. These days married couples stay married because they really want to.

Looking for Trouble

Learned folks are striving to discover the root of all matrimonial trouble. I am afraid they will go to the moon since each case has its individual causes and effect.

Something can, of course, be learned from generalizations and from the law of averages.

The Bernard MacFadden Foundation, a philanthropic organization and sponsor of the latest survey, explains that it is undertaken in the belief that the commonplaces of experience, knowledge and study of marriage and women in all walks of life will prove a valuable guide in helping solve many of the problems confronting present-day marriages.

Dr. Lyman Bryson, professor of Adult Education at Teachers College, Columbia University, in an announcement inaugurating a nation-wide poll to determine public opinion on the factors constituting ideal marriage, says:

"There is no greater fundamental concern to the country today than that of marriage. Criticism of the family is widespread. How much of this criticism is based upon fact, and how much upon theory, is something which we should find out about, possibly."

FIVE INJURED AS S. P. LARK IS DERAILED

GLENDALE, Oct. 19.—UP—The "Lark," freight San Francisco-Los Angeles Southern Pacific train, crashed into a heavy automobile freight truck at a grade crossing here today, killing two locomotives and three cars of the train and injuring five persons.

Dr. Rufus G. Von Kleinmuntz, president of the University of Southern California, was burned and shaken, but was released after hospital examination. Mrs. Paul Shoup, wife of the Southern Pacific president, also was injured but escaped serious injury.

Numerous other persons, most prominent on the Pacific Coast were injured, dead or merely injured as the first engine catapulted from the rail, dragging the baggage, mail and first chain car 200 feet behind it, but remained upright.

Of the injured, only M. E. Earley, 7, Seattle, was believed seriously hurt. Examination indicated she suffered internal injuries.

Walter Gordon, University of California assistant football coach, en route to Los Angeles to meet the U. S. Olympic State team incurred nose lacerations.

Others injured were:

H. A. Woltman, Piedmont, Calif., director of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, fractured hand.

Glenn Kellogg, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Kellogg, Battle Creek, Mich., fractured back.

J. L. Green, Los Angeles, Negro porter, scalp laceration, shoulder fracture. Green also was seen dead in his coffee.

E. J. Cheney, driver of the truck, leaped from the vehicle, escaping unhurt. The truck was demolished.

H. Barnes, engineer aboard the lead locomotive, and A. Champlain on the second were not injured. Neither was their firemen.

The accident was the first approaching serious proportions in California for a number of years.

Greta Nissen, Film Actress, In Annulment Plea

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—UP—Greta Nissen, blonde Norwegian motion picture actress, tonight sued for annulment of her marriage to Weldon Heyburn, actor.

She charged their marriage to Heyburn, Mex., November 30, 1933, was illegal, violating legal witness and residence requirement.

The complaint, filed by her attorney, was signed by the actress in England, September 16. It gave Heyburn's true name as Weldon Heyburn Franks.

One Dead, Three Hurt In Accident

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—UP—Mr. Andrew Henderson, 43, Los Angeles, was fatally injured and his four-year-old son, Andrew Henderson, 20, was reportedly severely injured. A son, Andrew, Jr., was cut and bruised.

Surprise No. 2 came when his wife, who had been married to him for 15 years, returned from her wedding to find herself a stepmother. Louis Andrade, 27, half-brother of the deceased, approached Superior Judge Thomas P. White in claiming an annulment of her marriage to Edward Norris, actor.

Surprise No. 3 came when his wife learned her husband was receiving only $45 a week instead of $50 he had been getting, the former Nashville girl informed the court. Describing her stepmother's rate, Miss Andrade said:

"We were married in Tijuana June 7 and when we got back to his apartment, I asked him whose picture it was on his desk and he said it was his little boy, that he had been married before."

"What did you do then?" Judge White inquired.

"I told him I was through and left him," the actress replied.
